To the People of the United States.

The People of the United States, without regard to past political differences or divisions, who are opposed to the present administration to the extension of Slavery in the Territories, in favor of the admission of Kansas as a free State, and of restoring the action of the Federal Government to the principles of Washington and Jefferson, are invited by the National Committee, appointed by the Pittsburgh Convention of the 25th of February, 1856, to send from each State three Delegates to meet in Philadelphia, on the SEVENTEENTH DAY OF JUNE NEXT, for the purpose of recommending candidates to be supported for the office of President and Vice President of the United States.

Washington, March 29, 1856. National Committee.

The National Committee, in a circular further say:
We solicit your attention to the call, which has preceded this paper. It is not only to recommend to the people the immediate selection of delegates from the several States, equal in number to three times the Representatives in Congress, to which each State is entitled to send on the 7th of June, at Philadelphia, to present such individuals as they may think best suited to uphold the cause to which they are devoted as candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency, but also to invite the members of all parties, who feel that the administration which should control the election, to meet at the same time and place, to confer with the convention as to the best course to crown their common wishes with success.

Mass State Convention.

We, the undersigned, recommend the holding of a Mass State Convention, at Madison, on Wednesday, the 4th day of June, 1856, for the purpose of appointing six delegates, three and three delegates in each Congressional District, to represent the Republicans of Wisconsin in the National Republican Convention to be held at Philadelphia on the 17th day of June next, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President and to organize the Republican party of the State. And all persons are cordially invited to attend and take part in the proceedings of this Convention, who hold to the principles of the Republican Platform adopted July 13th, 1854 when the Republican party of the State was inaugurated, viz:
Freedom or Slavery the Chief political issue.
Freedom in all the United States Territories.
No More Slave States.
The Abrogation of the Fugitive Slave Act.
Equality of Political Rights irrespective of birth, nativity or religion.
The support of French men only for office as are positively and fully committed to these principles, and whose personal character and conduct are a guarantee that they are reliable.
All who hold to these principles, and disclaim all fellowship with the Hunker Democratic and Know Nothing parties are invited to meet at Madison, for the purpose above mentioned, to organize for the coming Presidential Campaign, and to transact such business as the best interest of the party may require. And all Republican editors, and all Republicans who do not wish to see the Republican party controlled by the Know Nothings and destroyed, are requested to aid in circulating and promoting the objects of this call.

Republican State Convention.

A REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION will be held at the Capitol, in Madison, on Wednesday, the 4th day of June, A. D. 1856, at 12 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of choosing six delegates for the State at large, and three delegates for each Congressional District, to represent the State of Wisconsin in the Republican National Convention, to be held at Philadelphia in June next; for the nomination of two candidates for Presidential electors for the State at large; and for the thorough re-organization of the Republican party in the State.

Each Assembly District in the State will be entitled to two delegates in said Convention.

In view of the importance of the approaching Presidential campaign, and of the necessity of a thorough organization, the Committee would urge upon the friends of the cause throughout the State the propriety of taking immediate measures to secure a full representation in this Convention.

The Committee would respectfully suggest that the several Assembly District Conventions for the appointment of delegates to the State Convention, be held at 9 o'clock p. m., on Saturday, the 9th day of May next.

WM. A. WHITE, Chairman.
Republican State Convention Committee.

Dated 25th Madison, April 24, 1856.

Mixing In.
The Grant County Herald has been induced by the representations of Mr. White, to finally sanction the Delegate Convention. And the Sentinel, which has been careful not to let its readers know what it or any other presses have said on the other side, duly chronicles the fact. It also publishes and endorses an article from the Jefferson County Republican, written in Thurlow W. Brown's vigorous, slashing style, in which he likens the policy of a Mass Convention to the treachery of Benedict Arnold, and urges that "it be broadly and unqualifiedly repudiated," and represents that the Argus and its friends are coming into the Mass Convention. And the Sentinel backs up this representation by asserting the unquestioned character of Mr. Brown for "genuine Republicanism, and zealous and efficient advocacy of the good cause." Does the Sentinel mean to be understood that those who favor the Mass Convention are spurious Republicans?

It is not by such means that the party can be harmonized and built up. The men engaged in this Mass Convention movement, were enlisted in the anti-Slavery work when the whole corps of their maligners were voting for slaveholders and Baltimore platform, for Polk's and Pierce's and Taylors, and they are not the men to be brow-beaten, or frightened, or made the foot-ball of parties and politicians. They will listen to anything reasonable, and can be relied on to follow where manhood, integrity, and Liberty lead the way. But your threats—the men who have stood firm against mobs and the ostracism of the old pro-Slavery parties will laugh them to scorn. Those who use such arguments, mistake the character of the men they have to deal with.

Woman, however lovely and worthy, as such was never the object of his passion or song. Eulogy on the death of Percival, before the State Historical Society, by E. A. Calkins.

Mr. Calkins paid a beautiful and eloquent tribute to the memory of Percival, but the sentence above quoted proves that he is not familiar with his poetry or personal history. Woman is the theme of some of his most exquisite and beautiful verses, and tradition says he had one early, only love.

For ten years—from 1835 to 1848—we knew him, and often met him, and lived amidst those with whom most of his years were passed, and we speak, as regards his poetry, of what we know, and of his love, of what was currently understood and believed.

The Annual Report of the Directors of the Young Men's Association, contains the following facts:

MEMBERS—number not stated. 150 yearly paying members added the past year.

LIBRARY—Number of volumes near 3000.—Added the past year, 120. Ordered from New York, 400, at a cost of $500, but not yet paid for.

TREASURY—Receipts past year, $2,377 23. In Librarian's hands, 186 85.

Expenditures, 1,928 81.

Balance on hand, $565 27.

Leaving, after paying order for books, 63 27. Of the expenditures $237 50 has been paid for services of Librarian; $244 10 for expenses of Library; and $31 50 for insurance.

The Association is nine years old, has been nearly self sustaining, is now prosperous, and is full of promise of usefulness.

MILWAUKEE AND SUPERIOR RAILROAD.—A large and enthusiastic meeting in behalf of this Road, was held at Port Washington last Tuesday, addressed by Messrs. Stark and Schofield, of this city, Mayor Cook of Sheboygan, and W. H. Ramsey of Port Washington. Resolutions in favor of vigorous action, and in favor of a County Loan, were unanimously passed.

SLAVES in the United States are now exclusively persons of African descent.—Albany Journal.

So far from this being true, a considerable portion of the slaves in the United States have from one-half to seven-eighths Saxon blood in their veins, and many are so white that the only way they can be known to have African blood in them is by tracing their genealogy.

PIERCE & JONES, corner of Spring and West Water Streets, are just opening a new stock of goods. Everything looks new and bright there.

Chevalier Wyckoff, of Miss Gamble's notoriety has turned up again. We observe that he was an honored guest at a grand dinner recently given by the Lord Mayor of London to minister Dallas.

A considerable quantity of cork oak acorns were imported this season by the Patent Office and distributed in Middle and Southern States. These acorns are from the South of France, and were transported in tin cans.

NEW PATENT.—From the lists for the two weeks ending April 29, we select the following: John Reiley, of Hart Prairie, Wis., for improvement in harvester flingers.

George Easterly, of same place, for improvement in cultivators.

George Easterly, of same place, for improvement in grass harvesters. Patented June 28.

GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS AT CLEVELAND.—A joint resolution has passed both houses of Congress appropriating $33,000, (in addition to the former appropriation of $96,000,) for the purpose of building a Custom House, Post Office, &c., at Cleveland. The plans and specifications are to be enlarged, making the whole building 120 feet in front by some 65 feet deep.

CANADA LUMBER COMING.—The Toronto Leader states that 50,000,000 feet of sawed lumber is now passing over the Ottawa and Prescott Railroad, on its way to Chicago. It was purchased at $9 per thousand.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF CHICAGO.—The Common Council of Chicago have passed an ordinance authorizing the issue of bonds for $100,000, drawing 6 per cent. interest, and payable in 1876.

They will be negotiated and the money appropriated for general city purposes, the treasury not being able to meet the orders upon it under the present administration.

The earnings of the La Crosse Road, for the month of April, were only $3,923, less than the earnings of the Milwaukee & Mississippi Road.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

THE NORTH-WESTERN OCEANIC AND SPIRIT ADVOCATE, is the name of a monthly spiritual Magazine, published at Waukegan, at $1 a year, J. N. Brundage, publishers, and H. Ram Huginin and Geo. Haskell, M. D., editors. It is, to say the least, a phenomenon, if not a curiosity.

WOODWORTH'S YOUTH'S CABINET, for May, is received, and is just what all children, great and small, like to read. D. A. Woodworth, N. York, publisher, at $1 a year.

THE UNITED STATES MAGAZINE, for April—a month behind time—is but just received. As it enclosed the NATIONAL JOURNAL for May, it could not be the fault of the Postoffice. I send you the May number and we will then tell our readers about the new series promised in June.

A DEFENSE OF THE AMERICAN POLICY, by Hon. Thomas R. Whitney. De Witt & Davenport, New York. A 12 mo., of 372 pages, well printed, and beautifully bound in cloth, for $1.00. It is a plea for the Know Nothing Party, and should be in the hands of all the Fillmore men and Hunker Know Nothings.

SALAD FOR THE SOCIAL, by the author of SALAD FOR THE SOLITARY. A handsomely bound volume, illustrated, of over 400 pages, enclosing a rich intellectual treat. A work we can cheerfully commend to all classes. Published by De Witt & Davenport, New York. Price, $1.25. Both the above books are for sale by H. W. Anger, at the News Depot, in the Postoffice.

IMPORTATION OF DRY GOODS.—The New York Custom House returns for April exhibit contained heavy importations of foreign dry goods. Indeed, the financial difficulties of the market are mainly attributable to this source, the amount on the market for the month of April being $7,908,950, against $3,153,761 for the corresponding month 1855, and $5,074,525 for the month of April, 1854.

GERMAN SAENGERBUND.—The Cincinnati Columbian says the annual meeting of the German Saengerbund (Singers Association) will be held in this city on the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th of June next in the Grove on Ross Hill.

There are associations connected with the Saengerbund which are interesting to the American, as well as the German heart, for with the association is interwoven ideas of liberty, and where can the standard of freedom be raised and American sympathy be lacking? The first signs of the revival of liberal political ideas in Germany are connected with this association. In that lack of despotic rule, the people are not permitted to meet together for political or other discussions at their will, but the Saengerbund being a musical association, and the national feeling, habits, and instincts of the German people being so much in favor of music, even the despotic governments of the country did not dare suppress them.

The Association gives every year a prize for a musical composition. The last was offered for a chorus for four voices, and was gained by Mr. Balatka, of Milwaukee. It was a very glibly artistically ornamented. The prize chorus will be among the exercises, and Mr. Balatka will be the conductor during the meeting of the Association.

At a social party in Washington, Lewis D. Campbell was trying to explain away to his Republican friends the bad looks of his attendance and speaking at a Fillmore ratification meeting. He said he had not committed himself to the American nominations. "Yes," replied Seward, "I see what you mean, Campbell. You remind me of a dying Irishman, who was asked by his confessor if he was ready to renounce the devil and all his works. Oh, your honor," said Pat, don't ask me that; I'm going into a strange country, and I don't want to make myself enemies!" Campbell laughed as if he rather appreciated the joke.

THE MUMMIES IN MOTION.—A subscription to the stock of the Isthmus of Suez Canal, opened in Egypt, has developed interesting facts. Forty-five millions of francs were reared for the land of the Pharaohs. The Vice-roy had the privilege of the first subscription, and he took all save fifteen millions. This balance was entirely taken up in the course of three days, and without appeal to the public. The 1,500,000 francs assigned to Cairo, were subscribed by fifty different individuals, the majority of whom were of the stock of the Pyramid-builders. It is the first known instance of a participation in an industrial enterprise of a nation or corporate character, by Egyptians.

DROWNED.—Jacob Weaver was drowned at the Delta from a raft, last Friday; an Irishman was drowned there the same day by he tipping over of a canoe, and another man was drowned at the mouth of the Lemonweir, says the Newport Union.

On the same day, three rafts were dashed to pieces at the Delta.

THE Charter Election at Beloit resulted in the success of the Republican ticket by 200 majority. The Aldermen stood, either 71 a. publicans to 5 Democrats, or 6 to 6, the Journal at don't know which.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITON'S OPINION in the Governor Case is published at length in the Madison Journal.

The young man who cut his throat at Monticello, Green County last week, has since died from the effects of the wound.

The Matanzas Aurora says that a distinguished Cuban chemist has discovered a process by which wine may be extracted from the sugar cane. The chemist has applied for a patent.

The last Georgia Legislature appropriated $15,000 to the military institute at Marietta, which is based on the West Point system, and it will be enlarged to accommodate one hundred and fifty students.

An effort is being made to raise funds for the better endowment of the Andover Theological Seminary, Mass. The sum of $150,000 is thought to be needed to meet the present wants of the Institution.

SPRINKLER.—The sprinkler was out this forenoon gutting the dust on the West Water Street.

DR. JAMES G. PERCIVAL.

THE beautiful Eolian lyres of BRYANT, and HALCKE and DANA, whose notes were wafted by the same soft winds with his, should sing the death-song of PERCIVAL! Reverently, and with hushed and quivering heart, we touch these sacred themes. The sweet May flowers were just unfolding, but the heart of their lover, soaring upward, whispered, "My Soul goes Maying in God's Paradise." He will nevermore sing of "May—Sweet May," and the gentle month has felt the death-chill in her throbbing heart, and her flowers are opening slowly, and she has wept grief, gushing tears of rain, and the little birds have been silent, only now and then twittering out a muffled wail on the shivering air. The forest leaves were never so long unfolding, and thick clouds have hung broodingly around the twilight! The wild streams have swollen and overflowed their peaceful banks in their great grief, for he is dead who made their murmuring so musical! The silent stars have shone out as clearly on this sorrowing May as when he loved them in his gentle life; and we know that beyond their shining, afar in the Land of Love, the Songs of Earth's Lost Minstrel are mingling with the melody of angels.

We saw Mr. PERCIVAL at his home, in Hazel Green, about two and a half years ago. He was sitting at his piano as we entered, lingeringly touching one sweet note at a time, and we paused for the sweet echoes to die away ere we could interrupt his evening reverie. He was tuning his heaven-born soul to earthly harmony, and the clear notes rang so purely through his fringed heart, that they were wafted on to our, deathless and immortal! How much deep love thrilled through the echo of those sad, lingering tones! How many memories glided, phantom-like, along their cadence, we cannot know! A heavy sigh was all we heard to tell, and that was much.

His hair had silvered trailing alone the weary life-path, for the beautiful image enshrined so sacredly within his heart was but a memory, whose sweet reality lay far away in the shadowy distance. The world encroached him with its laurel, but its great, heavy leaves were wearysome and noisome. Then he sought solitude, and it burst out into flowers—his soul was so full of little beautiful buds, it needed but the still atmosphere of his own quiet life to unfold them to sweetest bloom. Arising gently from the calm depths of his peaceful heart are honied odors, whose fragrance will float on forever, to mingle with the eternal Anthem of Life.

Hang your harp on the branches of the weeping willow, Oh Poets! for the strings of his lyre are broken! Nay, not broken;—but glorified. Listen! when God's sweetest inspiration of song is on you, and the clear Heaven clouds are pushed aside for a moment, to let the pure music through—listen!—and the far echoes of a song, gushing and thrilling and floating along the lyres of heaven, may faintly reach you:—Earth's broken lyre, heaven-tuned and glorified!

Plant the frail Mimosa above him, and shrinking, timid flowers, that open not in the light, and go there at night, under the hushed stars, light, and cover the grave of the Poet with flowers!

Strutting in Borrowed Plumes.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Examiner, a religious weekly published in New York gives the following curious story of a recent incident in the Senate:

"Nor is this the only instance of getting up a reputation in the Senate by learning of others. An amusing instance of this sort occurred no longer ago than Wednesday last, when Mr. Jones of Iowa made his maiden speech, which he was allowed to make, in reply to Mr. Harlan's speech entirely out of order, but inasmuch as it was his maiden speech, and he wanted to make it then, the Senate graciously granted his request. The Hon. Senator got on very well with reading the speech at first, but soon it was apparent he could not read his own handwriting. The manuscript was very bad, and at times the Senator was quite unable to make out what it was. This recurring so often, excited the surprise of Senators, when soon it was whispered about that the speech was not his own, but the Rev. Mr. Davis's, the Senate Chaplain from Iowa, who was brought here by Mr. Jones, probably to do him this very service. The Senate Chaplain stood behind the chair of the President of the Senate, in great trepidation at the halting manner in which Mr. Senator Jones was getting on with his speech.

One of the Senators who was let into the secret of the paternity of this speech, went behind the chair of the President, and coming up to the Rev. clergyman, said to him: 'How is it, Mr. Davis, you allow your Senator and friend to make himself so supremely ridiculous by such a speech as he is now delivering?' The Rev. Chaplain, looking up to the hair stammered out: 'What have I to do with Mr. Jones's speech? I don't see him very often!'

Dr. J. C. MONROE, of Boston, died on the 4th inst., aged 79.

SCENE ON BOSTON COMMON IN THE OLDEN TIME.—In 1749 some good people in or near Boston, organized a society for the promotion of industry and economy, the was preceding that period having introduced a habit of idleness among the people, which the strong religious sentiment of the early settlers determined to discourage and rebuke. On the occasion of their anniversary in 1853, three hundred females of Boston assembled on the Common, with their spinning wheels, and gave a demonstration of their skill in the art of using them. They were neatly attired in cloth of their own manufacture, and a great crowd of spectators assembled to witness the scene. This was the first public exhibition of American manufactures, and probably produced as much good and more excitement than those of later days.—C. Knight's "Knowledge is Power."

DISCLOSURES OF A MESMERIC SUBJECT.—A San Francisco paper, by the last steamer, says:—

Frank Ball, well known in the cities of the Northern and Eastern States as the principal mesmeric subject of Leroy Sunderland, at lectures which he gave in 1846-47-48, has commenced publishing in the Chronicle a series of papers, entitled "The Adventures and Revelations of Frank A. Ball, as a Mesmeric Subject." Sunderland and he made more converts to mesmerism than were made by any other persons at that time. He now states that he never was in a mesmeric sleep, but did all the experiments by collusion, and he explains how it was done, and appeals to a number of witnesses to confirm the truth of what he says.—He makes affidavit to the truth of his revelations, and his first paper is confirmed in many of its most material points by a respectable gentleman now residing in this city.

I. A. Smith has become associated with Martin McKell in the publication of the Oshkosh Democrat.

Religious Intelligence.

Religious Liberty of the Press in Spain.—A commission, appointed by the Cortes to prepare the draft of an organic law for the exercise of the religious liberty of the press, has presented eight bills. The fourth clause, preventing the attacks by the press of the Catholic religion, may, it is thought, if adopted, be used as a means of checking altogether the free expression of all religious opinions.

Public Worship in England.—It appears that in London, out of a population of two millions only five hundred thousand attend any places of public worship at all. In Liverpool only one third of the population, about 70,000, attend places of public worship.

Sects in Austria.—The two Protestant communities number in Austria 3,450,000 adherents; of whom 2,216,558 are in Hungary. Of these Protestants, nearly two thirds are Reformed, and the rest Lutherans. The Greeks are somewhat less numerous than the Protestants; they number 3,163,000 souls to whom must be added 55,000 United Greeks. The non-Catholic forms a sixth part of the population.

Missionary Literary Labors.—The Rev. Mr. Schaeffer, missionary of the American Board at Constantinople, has prepared and published, during his connection with the mission at that place, the Psalter, in Hebrew and Spanish, 3,000 copies; the whole Old Testament in the same languages, in quarto, two volumes, 3,000 copies; and a second edition of the same work in 5,000 copies; the Pentateuch in the same languages, 18mo., 500 copies; and a second edition 8vo., 2,000 copies; the Psalms in an entirely new popular version, in Hebrew Spanish, 2,000 copies; a Hebrew Grammar in Judaeo Spanish, 2,000 copies; a Hebrew and Chaldeo Lexicon of the Old Testament in the same Judaeo Spanish dialect, 2,000 copies.

Mr. Brownson becoming Tolerant.—Mr. O. A. Brownson, in his Review, thus explains his idea of the Christian element in Protestantism: "We do not mean, by denying Protestantism to be a religious movement, to assert that Protestants have no religion or that they associated nothing of religion with their movement against the Church. The Protestant people generally profess to have some sort of religion, and the great body of them always have been, and are, in their way, a religious people. Nor do we mean to say that they have no religious truth, or that their religion is utterly worthless. But so far as they have religious truth and Christian piety, they are not Protestants; and what of truth and piety they have, they have not by virtue of their protestantism, but in spite of it. They have not in all cases cast off the Catholic doctrine, or lost all sense of Christian faith and duty."

The "Index Expurgatorius."—The Pope has ordered a Roman Catholic newspaper, published in France, to be placed in the "Index Expurgatorius" among the books and periodicals which "the faithful" are forbidden to read.—The newspaper was established to refute the errors of the Ultramontanes.

Alteration of Wills by Priests.—Three Roman Catholic priests have lately been arraigned in Dublin, for altering the wills of deceased persons, so as to fail to the possession of large estates, by defrauding the rightful heirs.

Science and the Church.—Prof. Unger of the Vienna University, whose name is well known to students of botany and geology, and some of whose botanical works have been translated and published in London, has been denounced by the Vienna Gazette, as a man who brings forward doctrines, which do not agree with the Holy Scriptures. The charge has been brought under the notice of the Austrian Minister of Instruction.

The Evangelists on Unitarianism.—The N. Y. Evangelist, one of the most prominent Catholic journals in the country, says: "We think orthodox ministers would be benefited by large acquaintance with Unitarian literature than for the most part we suppose they now have.—There are certain features of truth which it has developed more fully and justly than our own, fatally deficient as it has been in profounder and more essential views. We could wish for the Unitarian much more of a doctrinal depth and earnest godliness, and for ourselves more of the amenities of the gospel."

Religious Newspapers in New York.—The following statement gives the present circulation of the principal religious newspapers published in this city:

What Unitarians Believe.—The Christian Register, the New England organ of Unitarianism, says that as opposed to Orthodox, Unitarians maintain that human beings do not inherit from Adam a ruined nature; and there is no transfer of this guilt made to us, inflicting upon us a moral inability; that our relation to God, has not been prejudiced by Adam's fall; that life is not a foregone conclusion with any one of us when it begins; that we have not been condemned as a race, but shall be judged as individuals; that, whatever be the rank of Jesus Christ in the scale of being and whatever be his nature, he is not presented to us in the Scriptures as the Supreme God, or as a fractional part of the Godhead;—therefore, he is not the source but the channel of Divine grace; he is not the object of our homage or our prayers, nor the ultimate object of our dependence and trust, but fulfils his highest work for us, when he leads us on to the Father; that the Scriptures do not lay the emphatic stress of Christ's redeeming work upon his death, above or apart from his life, character and doctrine; and that his death as an element in his redeeming work, is made effective for human salvation through the influence on the heart and the life of man, not through its vicarious value with God, nor through its removal of an abstract difficulty in the divine government, which hinders the forgiveness of the penitent without further satisfaction.
